O UR OTHER PROJECTS

DOG RESCUE - IAR collaborates with local groups in Goa, India to improve the welfare of the stray dog population. The team based at our primate centre in Java also carries out a dog sterilisation and vaccination programme in local villages, while our rehoming scheme and outreach activities also help to build better understanding of dogs among local communities.

BIRD PROTECTION – Thousands of migrating birds are illegally shot down as they fly over Malta each year. We joined the campaign to end this indiscriminate slaughter in 1990 and lobby for stronger bird protection legislation and more effective law enforcement. We also run a small bird rehabilitation hospital in Valletta.

CATASTROPHES CAT RESCUE - With the support of IAR Catastrophes Cat Rescue gives sanctuary to unwanted cats in the UK, allowing them the chance to live out their days in the peace and freedom of the country garden that surrounds the sanctuary.

The ancient tradition of dancing bears in India has caused terrible suffering to thousands of sloth bears. This cruel practice was made illegal in 1972 but in the decades that followed bears were still poached, beaten and mutilated to force them to dance. In 2009 International Animal Rescue and our coalition partners put an end to this barbaric practice. The rescued bears now live contentedly in our sanctuaries in India. We have pledged to meet the considerable costs of lifelong care for the bears and also fund undercover investigations to crackdown on bear cub poaching.

Since the rescue of the last dancing bear in India, our investigations have shown that some bears have been smuggled into Nepal and continue to suffer cruelty and abuse. We will continue to track down the smugglers and cut these bears free. We will not stop until this cruelty ends.

BUT THEN WE MADE HISTORY....

At International Animal Rescue (IAR) we do exactly what our name says – we save animals from suffering around the world. We cut free and care for dancing bears in India, rescue orangutans and other primates from traffickers in Indonesia and treat stray dogs and cats in developing countries. And much more besides. Whenever we can we release animals back into the wild. And when that’s not possible, we give them a safe haven for life.
